WE DEDICATE THIS BOOK
AS A TOKEN OF APPRECIATION
TO OUR DEVOTED FRIEND AND COUNSELOR

MR. VICTOR W. RITCHIE
THE CLASS OF JUNE, 1936

Up to the present your lives have been planned by others. From now on you will be obliged to draw up your own design for living, which you will find no easy task. Your success in life will depend largely upon the relation of this design to your capacities and upon your will to attain your aims.

Be sure to make use of the BEST you have learned at home and in school. Include in your plan the determination to be a good citizen and an honor to your family and to your school.

My greatest regret at this time is the loss of some of the best student friends that I have ever had.

V. W. RITCHIE

DR. JOHN F. McNEILL

You are the last class that Dr. Low knew intimately as the next class, January 1937, was in the Annex during his last active term as principal. Carry with you his words of advice. Exemplify in your lives in the many years that lie ahead the high principles that have animated the long and fruitful life of our beloved Chief. Be true to what he has always stood for and you will be true to the best in yourselves.

It has been a privilege for you to spend your high school years in old Erasmus Hall. Remember always that your school has succeeded only if your lives are the better and richer for her influence, that she has failed unless your intelligence, your zeal for righteousness, your resolve to make the world a better place are translated into action. Be true to what you know to be right, work hard, have faith, and the future will take care of itself.

Very sincerely yours,

JOHN F. McNEILL

DR. J. HERBERT LOW

I suggest that you young people put away childish things, now that you are grown up. Don't devote all your newspaper time to the sports page. Fit yourselves by intelligent reading and discussion to take your place as a worthwhile member of your community. And don't become one of those pitiful psuedo-patriots who plays golf instead of voting. In old Greece a man lost his citizenship, if he didn't vote. He ought to. But every one of you should know what he's about when he casts his ballot. You can't know, if you remain childish in your mind and let the world go by without making an effort to understand it. Many men and women are children all their lives. Don't you be.

You are the last class I knew. You are on the threshold of life and I am at the back door. May your front yard be as enjoyable to you as my rear garden is to me.

With every good wish, I am

Very sincerely yours,

J. HERBERT LOW

When the Spring comes back to Flatbush in her garden by the sea,

There's a Big Gray School a-calling, calling aye to thee and me;

For the breeze sings in the campus and the bells
swing soft and clear:

Come ye back to old Erasmus to the days forever
dear.

When the campus lies in shadow, where the sunlight used to be;

And our years, like leaves, are falling; yet undaunted comrades we.

For there's something in the spirit of the school
without a peer,

That will lead us up and onward, as it did when we were here.

IN ACTION

Erasmus, all our hearts to thee, with fervent impulse turn;
We love thy halls where hope is bright and lights of knowledge burn.
The hearty friendships of these days which through our lives shall last,
The melody of youth's fair dreams none from our hearts shall cast.

Then cheer, cheer, cheer, with might and main
Cheer both one and all,
For while we've still a heart and voice
We'll sing Erasmus Hall.

When manhood claims us for its own, thy dreams shall never pall;
With fondest love we'll ever turn to old Erasmus Hall.
We'll sing the beauties of thy shade, thy fostering care for all,
And while we've still a heart and voice, we'll sing Erasmus Hall.

Words and Music by the late
EUGENE W. HARTER

Mr. Ritchie's Office Staff whose faithful service made possible the efficient handling of the largest grade ever to go through Erasmus Hall High School.

The Year Book Staff wishes to express its thanks to these student photographers who made this book faithfully representative of our school.

MARCH OF EVENTS

The largest class of Erasmus Hall.
Fourteen hundred we were that fall.

We thought, as we entered the old gray school,
To take it by storm and firmly rule;
Boundless was our embarrassment,
When to the Annex were we sent.

Far from civilization's charms,
Out among the Flatbush farms,
They put us—not for reasoning,
But just for a little seasoning.

Getting ripe for Sophomores' jokes,
For Juniors' puns and Seniors' pokes,
Innocent of awaiting tricks,
On came the class of '36.

To the main building at last assigned,
Seldom indeed a room could we find,
And wandered many a weary hour,
Seeking the Swimming Pool in the tower.

We struggled up scholastic heights,
In a thousand well-fought fights,
With History, English, Science, and Math,
Strewing roses in our path.

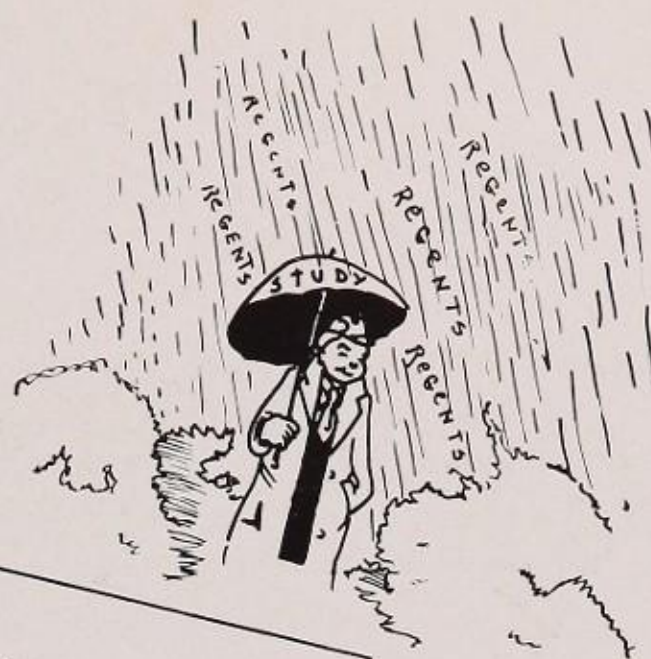

Pausing in this headlong stride,
We held a dance, our lasting pride,
And taking advantage of every facility,
Showed Terpsichorean and business ability.

But Life goes winging up and down,
With many a smile, but many a frown,
Dancing's a pleasure that was followed by pain,
Though music was sunshine; the Regents were rain.

We worked, and played, and studied hard,
And treasured rewards on a cream-colored card.
"The old order changeth, yields place to the new";
Our four years are over; say we Adieu.

We say we are glad to be done,
To have our diplomas won,
No more midterms or homework, no late bells' ring,
But never again the Campus in Spring.
And so we go, and as out we slowly march,
You may see a parting tear or so, as we pass beneath the Arch.

« « B O Y ' S » » ATHLETICS

FENCING

During its brief existence, this fascinating sport was almost monopolized by our grade. Not only were most of the members of the team and squad from this class, but Mr. Ritchie, an expert swordsman, voluntarily served as coach.

In 1935, the Erasmus Hall Team won the Borough Championship without the loss of a single match. They lost the city title to Textile by the slim margin of one point.

The five-man team included Captain Paul Perlowin, who won second place in the individual competitions and recently defeated the P. S. A. L. champion to win the Van Praig Trophy Award, Franklin Loew, Archie Ignatow, Leonard Rapoport, and Allan Bloom. Major E's were awarded to every member of the varsity as due recognition for a superlative performance.

SWIMMING

Erasmus Hall has for a long time dominated this sport in the Borough. Under the careful coaching of Bill Mullen, swimmers from our grade helped for three successive years to win the Borough Championship.

Outstanding in individual and team performance was Roger Pettit, winner of the Rutgers Interscholastic Championship in the 100-yd. breast-stroke, twice runner-up in the City Championships, and the breast-stroke member of the medley trio which came within a fifth of a second of the world's record. Other "three year veterans" are Robert Baird, who swam the range of free-style distances, James Brannigan, another freestyler, and James Levey who won the News Derby Award in 1934, as a backstroker. Also graduating are Brigadier "Pop" Ferris, who swam the 100-yd. freestyle, Edgar Kaufman, who had the misfortune to be eclipsed in the breast-stroke by Roger Pettit but was, nevertheless, a valuable member of the team, George Young, and Newton Fassler.

TRACK

Although the Track Team has chalked up few victories in the last four years, a number of Seniors have turned in creditable performances throughout their track careers.

Among them are Captain Bill Green, a better than average hurdler, Larry Morianity, a veteran of three years standing who runs the half-mile and toys with the idea of high-jumping, Howard Jaffe, for two years captain of the cross-country team, and Manley Markell, a competent high-jumper. Other graduates worthy of mention are David Teitelbaum, Eugene Coop, Jerold Harris, William Lees, Ed Reilly, Norman Silverman, and Jerome Ellgarten.

G I R L ' S ATHLETICS

GIRLS' FIELD HOCKEY. The undefeated and untied grade team received major E's for the intramural championship. Playing with skill and spirit, they swept the opposition off the field, Betty Peterson and Frances Goldstein on the defense permitting only two goals in the entire tournament, while Ruth Hess and Jean Hayes scored nineteen of the team's twenty-five points. The lineup was: Goal, Virginia Thomas; L. Fullback, Betty Peterson; R. Fullback, Frances Goldstein; L. Halfback, Dorothy Hegewish; L. Wing, Marie Pica; R. Wing, Florence Ruvinsky; L. Inside, Jean Hayes; Center Forward, Ruth Hess; R. Inside, Eleanor Hargan.

GIRLS' BASEBALL was another sport that aroused great interest in the grade. The team, then Juniors, were awarded EH's for second place in a hard-fought tournament during which they forced the upper grades into a triple tie and defeated the 7th termers twice before bowing to the more experienced Seniors. Notable was the cool pitching of Ruth Glassford, the accurate catching of Ruth Hess, and Betty Peterson's batting. The lineup: Pitcher and Captain, Ruth Glassford; Catcher, Ruth Hess; First Base, Betty Peterson; R. Short, Florence Ryniker; L. Short, Jean Hayes; 2nd Base, Frances Goldstein; 3rd Base, Florence Ruvinsky; L. Field, Dorothy Millburg; Center, Julia Smith; R. Field, Dorothy Hegewish; Substitutes, Dorothy Smith, Mary Kelly.

CLASS

WILL

We, The Class of June, nineteen hundred and thirty-six, realizing that we are shortly to depart this school, hereby seal, ordain, publish, and declare, this, our Last Will and Testament.

To the Football Squad, the Footlighters, the Classica Sodalitas, and the Co-III Club, we leave the sweet joy of comparing the staleness of contemporary times with the golden days when the Class of '36 was among them. We do this with no sacrifice of our unshakable modesty, remembering that the same has been said after the departure of the Class of 1790, 1850, 1903, et al.

Whereas the Detention Room lacks that air of peaceful intimacy so helpful to a delicate social relationship, we bequeath to the proctors thereof Room 351, known as the Jungle, or as Mr. Ritchie's Office.

To the parents or guardians of the Back Campus, three blades of grass, a WPA worker, a very nice rubber-plant, and a second-hand gondola. Being thoroughly tired of "March, march, on down the field," and having discovered some five-score neglected songs pertaining to our alma mater, we give and devise a phonograph record of the Junior Arista Pledge Song, or any song and/or a course of instruction on the xylophone to that Freshman who shall most conclusively flunk Minor Music.

To enterprising young journalists we bequeath the inestimable privilege of finding quaint little gargoyles here and there on the Flatbush building, and discovering unknown bas-reliefs under the Bedford Arch, with a request that they leave the experience out of the public prints.

We donate Volume II of the Complete Works of Schopenhauer to G. O. candidates trying to while away the boredom of a campaign.

To the Service Squad, we leave our sympathy for all the bad jokes and evil puns that come their way. Being only human, we give them also as many of those clever little blueprints showing how to get around the Bedford Building as they can steal, hoping in this prudent way to forestall the next crime wave.

To each and every Erasmian, irrespective of age, sex, and present condition of servitude, we grant:

The legend of the campus squirrel.

The helpful influence of Erasmian editorials.

The fresh tangy flavor of Dutchman news.

Senior Singing, but we're sorry.

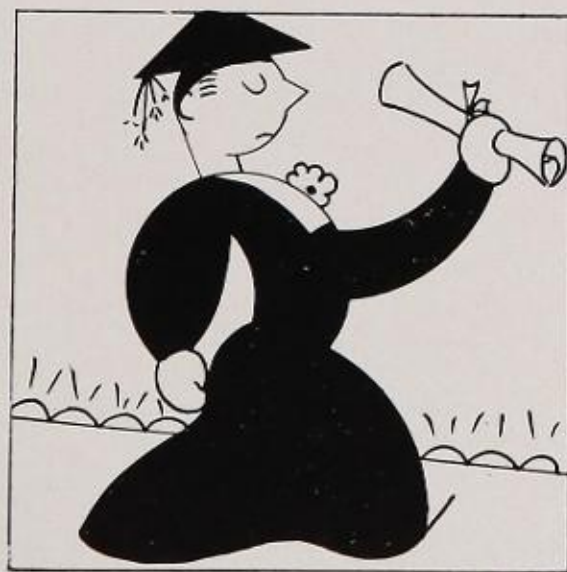

And a rare collection of forged passes, circa early 20th century.

Lastly, we leave the school. It's about time!

In Witness Whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals this Regents week of June, nineteen hundred and thirty-six.

CODICIL

We further leave to the Class of January, 1937 the most unusual student in Erasmus Hall, pictured above, whose untiring studiousness guided us throughout our school careers.

DESIDERIUS

ERASMUS

Desiderius Erasmus was born in 1466. He was educated in his native country, where he studied at the University of Deventer. About this time his mother died, and soon after his young man then went to the Augustinian monastery at Steyn, Holland. There he studied for the priesthood and was ordained in 1494.

born in Rotterdam, Holland at Gouda in the same year until 1475. Then he was sent to the schools of that day in which Erasmus lost his devoted father passed away. The Erasmus ruled no kingdom. He had no great cities named for him. He was a great teacher. During his travels over Europe he instructed pupils in the classics of which he had a broad knowledge. He was a warrior of learning and fought a winning battle against ignorance and superstition. Erasmus believed that personality in both teacher and pupil should be honored and felt that character and social vision were of primary importance.

When Erasmus left the monastery, he became secretary to the Bishop of Cambray. During this period he produced a volume of poems, which was published in 1495. In 1499 he had left the Bishop's service and was engaged as secretary to Baron Mountjoy with whom he went to England for a year.

For eight years after this time he traveled on the Continent in the employ of various prominent persons.

Erasmus' chief literary work was "Moriae Encomium" or "In Praise of Folly", which became his most widely read work.

The influence of Erasmus upon the thought of his age was profound. He was a champion of the classical tradition of learning, a humanist. His mind revolted against the narrowness of the Middle Ages. It was such an outlook which prepared the way for the study of science, economics, and education.

We are proud to have our great school, Erasmus Hall, which was built originally by the Dutch settlers of Flatbush, and founded with the desire to increase the spread of knowledge and the love of truth, named after this pioneer teacher of Holland, Desiderius Erasmus.

Erasmus said:

"The habit does not make the monk."

"Betwixt the devil and the deep sea."

"O dense intelligence!"

"Who loves me will love my dog also."

"Of two evils choose the least."

"Among the blind the one-eyed man is king."

"The camel set out to get him horns and was shorn of his ears."

"The number for a dinner—not fewer than three nor more than nine."

"The fox has many tricks, the hedgehog only one."

"He gives twice who gives quickly."

"Julian would learn something even if he had one foot in the ferry-boat."

"A nail is driven out by another nail, habit is overcome by habit."
